The NV PUC Commissioners Alaina Burtenshaw, Rebecca Wagner and David Wagner appear to be on the path to nonfeasance and or malfeasance complaints filed by ratepayers.

Since they opened a Docket regarding smart meters in October 2011, Docket Number 11-10007, they have heard and read complaints about 4th Amendment violations.

Retired USAF Col., Robert Frank, has submitted numerous written comments and has personally appeared before the Commission notifying them of this concern. [1,2].

Chairwoman Burtenshaw and another Commissioner at the October 11, 2012, consumer session were informed about problems with the smart meters that they approved. Specifically, that another utility company, PECO, found Sensus meters to be problematic. [3]

Because information discussed at a consumer session is not acted upon, a formal comment was submitted to an open docket to incorporate the exhibits from the consumer session, as the exhibits were highly relevant to the current docket. [4]

Burtenshaw was caught on videotape taking notes while being notified about the meters being replaced in Pennsylvania. [5] If she was taking notes, then she obviously 'learned' about the issue, does she believe that she can ignore what she felt warranted note taking? Will she try to feign
